

OGLE COUNTY OFFICERS GET ROBBER AFTER CHASE

RECORD PRICE FOR CHAMPION STEER IN SHOW

12-Year-Old Boy's Pet Hereford Sold for $7 per Pound

Chicago, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The boy king of livestock raisers, 12-year-old Clarence Goecke of State Center, Iowa, was showered with gold today when his grand champion steer "Dick" went on the auction block and sold for $8,050 shattering all previous records at the International Livestock Exposition.

The prize steer was purchased by the J. C. Penny Company of New York, chain store operators. The record price, $7 per pound, almost doubled the previous high figure of $3.60 paid in 1926 for Rupert B., grand champion steer owned by Oklahoma A. and M. College.

Young Goecke already had won $1,000 in prizes for his champion, which he bought as a calf from his father, Fred Goecke, last year for only $55.

If the record sum paid for Dick, the steer, bewildered the Iowa youth, he was superb in disguising his feelings. He climbed down from the auctioneer's stand and while the crowd cheered he calmly walked away with the casual remark that he "wanted to get warm." In the excitement which followed, the young livestock king was overlooked and after his father had taken the champion steer back to its stall, Clarence could not be found. The anxious parent set out in search, fearing his son might be "kidnaped," but the boy was found soon huddled against the wall of one of the stock yard stores "thawing out."

To Share Winnings.
Young Goecke, while he alone fed and pampered and raised his Hereford pet into the grand champion, said he would share his winnings with his sister Emma, 17, who helped exhibit the champion during the show, and with his father. It will go into a bank as a nest egg for his future education and for part of the financing of the Hereford herd and his dad are going to raise.

Dick brought to young Goecke the junior feeding championship of the Four-H clubs, the grand championship of all Hereford steers, the grand championship of all yearling steers and finally the grand championship of the entire International Exposition. He came near to foregoing the great honors he amassed, as he had decided to go home after winning the junior contest until he was prevailed upon to seek additional honors.

The grand champion carload lot of cattle exhibited by E. P. Hall of Mechanicsburg, Ill., was sold off the auction block at $44 per hundred-weight to Arbogast & Bastian of Allentown, Penn. The carload lot of 15 averaged 1,055 pounds each.

Enginemen Hurt in Chicago Train Wreck

Chicago, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The engineer and fireman of a Chicago & Eastern Illinois suburban passenger train were injured when the train, coming into the city from Crete, Ill., sideswiped the Pennsylvania Railroad, in the yards at Twenty-First Street and the Chicago River.

John Campbell, 50, Williamsburg, Mich., the engineer, suffered cuts and bruises and J. C. Crouch, 45, Danville, Ill., suffered minor hurts when the C. & E. I. engine overturned. The two car suburban train was knocked from the track but no passengers were hurt while four cars of the express train left the rails. The C. & E. I. and Pennsylvania tracks cross at the point of the accident and an investigation to fix blame for it was started by both roads.

Mrs. Wilbur Crawford expects to leave for Florida next week and will join her son, Joseph, in Daytona Beach.

SORDID CONDITIONS, UNBELIEVABLE, IN SHACK

Marian Harrison Held on Two Very Serious Charges as Result

Claiming to have been held a prisoner for almost three years during which time she has been buffeted about the country with her child, now two years old, beaten and her life threatened repeatedly, Mrs. Florence Agan, 25, this morning wept out some of the chapters of her experiences which terminated yesterday afternoon with the arrest of Marian Sylvester Harrison on a warrant charging fornication and adultery. Harrison, who had erected a shack adjoining the city's dumping ground north of Dixon near the Plum Hollow golf course, is now in the county jail under bonds of $2,000.

Sheriff Ward Miller upon receipt of a note, which contained almost unbelievable allegations, went to the shack yesterday afternoon with Chief J. D. Van Bibber to investigate. Here he found Harrison, his wife and family, Mrs. Agan and her child—12 persons living in two small rooms. Charges were made which prompted the officers to take Harrison, his wife, his daughter Helen and Mrs. Agan to the court house where they told some of their stories to State's Attorney Mark C. Keller.

Women Reveal Conditions.
It is understood that the revelations made by the women and Harrison's 17-year-old daughter, resulted in the issuance of a warrant before Justice J. O. Shauls, in which he was charged with fornication and adultery, together with Mrs. Agan. Both were held under $500 bonds, the woman being permitted to return home with Mrs. Harrison last evening. She was taken to the county jail in default of the bond. Last evening the women went to the county jail and told Sheriff Miller of conditions which had existed during the past three years. He immediately communicated with Justice Shauls and the bond was increased to $2,000 until tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

This morning the women and Harrison's 17-year-old daughter appeared in State's Attorney Keller's office and repeated their stories as related to Sheriff Miller last evening. The daughter is said to have told of forced relations with her father in Omaha, Neb., and Britt, Iowa, which were almost unbelievable, and his threats to kill her if she told.

Held as Prisoner?
Mrs. Agan without hesitancy sobbed out a partial story of her experiences of the past three years, during which time she claims to have been held a prisoner, without a home, not permitted to communicate with relatives or see members of her family, her mail carefully censored, her life repeatedly threatened, without funds and fighting continuously for her life and that of her baby.

About three years ago in Omaha, she told the officers, she went to Harrison in response to an ad for a housekeeper. She had left her husband but had not obtained a divorce, she said. Soon they left Omaha and since that time have roamed over the country, going into various states, but remaining in any one place a very short time. Harrison took her with him and represented her to be his wife, her story continued. He followed the sugar beet industry, assisting in harvesting the crop in many states, and finally came to Lee county, where they moved into a shack in Bradford township in the fall of last year.

Life Threatened.
It was while they lived in Bradford township, that the child was born to Mrs. Agan and was given (Continued on page 2)

APPEALS FOR GOODFELLOWS AID COME IN

But Not Responses to the Call for Cash Donations

Yesterday's announcement of the plans of the Evening Telegraph Goodfellow Club to provide a Christmas for the poor youngsters of Dixon have started letters coming in with appeals for aid for the kids, but does not seem to have pried open many generous hearts. Not that the Goodfellow Club is worried, because Dixon Goodfellows never have failed and will not fail this time, but the sooner the Goodfellow committee knows how much support it will have to depend upon, the better it can do its work of distributing Christmas cheer to the poor kids of the city.

Two Donations.
Up to the time this was written this morning, the only donations were $5 from Frank Kreim, the first Goodfellow to volunteer this year, and $25 donated by the Evening Telegraph. We should like to see this $30 grow into a thousand.

The first aim of the Goodfellow Club is to warm up forlorn little hearts with a Christmas toy, but we often find it necessary to warm up cold little toes with shoes and stockings, and thin little fingers with woolen mittens before we are satisfied that our boy and girl friends are getting anywhere near the kind of a Christmas that should be the right of every child in a prosperous community such as this.

Wants Names of Poor.
The Goodfellow Club wants the names, ages and addresses of every child in Dixon who will not have a Christmas without Goodfellow help. It is important that we have these names at once, so that their needs may be investigated and arrangements made to meet them as far as possible.

There will be no publication of the names of those we help.

CAUGHT TRYING TO ROB BYRON FARMS' LODGE

Discovered by Farmer Who Notified Ogle County Officers

(Telegraph Special Service.)
Oregon, Dec. 6.—Sheriff Sam Good was today holding in the Ogle county jail a man who has been identified as being Early Smith, aged 35, of Farmer City, Ill., who is believed to have participated in a attempted wholesale robbery of the Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick estate north of Byron late last night. Smith, when first taken in custody about midnight, after a thrilling ride of more than three miles in a hail of rifle bullets, refused to disclose his identity and claimed to be from Alabama.

The Black Hawk Trail, state highway route 2, from Byron to the McCormick Rock River farms was strewn with articles of silverware, china, rugs, curtains and drapes which had been removed from the large dwelling on the estate designated as the "gatekeeper's lodge."

Discovered by Farmer.
Arthur Few, a farmer residing near Byron, discovered the big touring car parked alongside of the road near the lodge late last night as he was returning from Rockford. Furnishings loaded in the car and rugs rolled up and lying beside the car on the ground, aroused his suspicion. He hurried to Byron and informed Night Marshal William Dillion, a deputy sheriff, who in turn called two other deputies and hurried to the McCormick farms.

When they arrived on the scene, Smith started on a wild ride toward Byron while bullets from the deputies' guns rattled about his car and both rear tires were shot off the wheels. As he drove along the slippery ice covered paving with one hand, Smith was throwing away such articles as he could reach. Nearing the city of Byron and apparently being unfamiliar with the highway, Smith made the mistake which resulted in his capture a few minutes afterward. Instead of making a turn near the cemetery, he continued south and soon was at the bank of Rock river where he was forced to stop.

Was Surrounded.
The deputies surrounded him and took him to the city jail where he was locked up. Sheriff Sam Good was notified at Oregon and he hastened to Byron. Smith refused to answer the questions of the officers as to his identity, merely stating that he was from Alabama. Sheriff Good succeeded in establishing the identity this morning. A loaded rifle was found by the officers in Smith's car.

Entrance to the lodge had been gained through a rear window in the gatekeeper's lodge and when Smith was searched, a key to the rear door of the lodge was found in his pockets. The Ogle county authorities were of the opinion the Smith intended taking what articles he could haul in his car, and return later for other furnishings which were stored in the lodge. Efforts were also being made to connect Smith with the robbery several weeks ago in which thousands of dollars worth of furs and valuables were taken from Mrs. McCormick's home. The lodge had been closed for the winter months and furnishings from some of the other employees' dwellings on the estate are said to have been stored here.

This morning the officers who had been successful in capturing Smith were retracing their route gathering up articles as silverware, china dishes, rugs and draperies which had been hurried from the machine last night. At 10 o'clock this morning it was reported that practically all of the property removed from the lodge had been accounted for.

Thinks Pan-Americanism Has Been Benefited by His Journey

U. S. S. Maryland, enroute to Antofagasta, Chile, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Bearing pleasant recollections of his reception by government and municipal officials and the people of Peru, President-elect Hoover today resumed his good-will voyage along the west coast of South America with Antofagasta, Chile, as his next stopping place.

Mr. Hoover felt he had been personally aided for his work as President of the United States by conferences he had with President Leguia of Peru, and by contact with other officials. He believed the visit had been helpful in cementing the friendly relations which have existed since the foundation of the two republics.

Mr. Hoover was especially impressed with the cordiality of his welcome by the Peruvians.

Cheered by Crowds
Crowds waited for hours in front of the American Embassy and presidential palace at Lima for his appearance. They walked for blocks following the President-elect as he drove twice to the presidential palace—once to greet President Leguia at mid-day and again to attend a dinner and reception at night. Mr. Hoover was also able to be present at the receptions by the American Society at the country club and by American engineers at the Engineers club.

President Leguia in formally addressing Mr. Hoover at the banquet in his honor, stressed the necessity of Pan-Americanism. He said this was the thing that Mr. Hoover was making the present trip to accomplish, and had as its aim friendship, goodwill, and understanding between all the American republics.

Such a union, the Peruvian President said, has been and will continue to be a bulwark of liberty for all the nations of the western world. He added that the Hoover visit would be of incalculable benefit to this spirit of Pan-Americanism.

Stressed Air Service
Mr. Hoover in responding stressed the importance of improved aerial communications between South America and the United States. He said his visit was born of the hope and aspiration that it could further re-enforce the structure of peace, friendship and unity of ideals between these republics.

Mr. Hoover referred to "the steady and majestic progress of South America in the past century in political stability, freedom and liberty, peace, increasing material wealth, and increasing human comfort and happiness."

SCREEN VILLAIN CARRIED ROLES IN HOME, CHARGE

Mrs. Noah Beery Filed Suit for Divorce in Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Noah Beery, villain of the motion picture screen, today was under summons to appear in court December 14 and answer the charge of his wife that he carried the role into his home. Mrs. Beery filed suit yesterday for divorce, charging cruelty.

Mrs. Beery's suit charged that her husband, "abused, choked, struck and threatened" her. His conduct on numerous occasions was described by his wife as "brutal and threatening."

Beery was accused of having told fellow actors that his wife "was a little insane."

Beery denied all the allegations. He said the divorce action was the result of "too much money and too many people to help her spend it. Certainly I have never been guilty of the things of which she charges me."

Mrs. Beery asked for a share of her husband's community property, which was listed at $300,000. She also asked for the custody of the 15 year old son, Noah Wilbur Beery. The couple was married in Boston in 1910 and separated in 1927.

KING IMPROVING SLOWLY, DOCTORS REPORTED TODAY

Public Cheered by Early News from Bedside this Morning

London, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Buckingham Palace circles let it be known at 4 p. m. that the condition of King George had not changed since the earlier bulletin from the physicians.

Lord Dawson of Penn visited the palace this afternoon and had a brief consultation with his colleague, Sir Stanley Hewett, on the King's condition.

About the time of the doctor's afternoon visit, the Queen and Princess Mary went for a drive. The Queen not only smiled as customary in response to the salutations of the crowd at the palace gates, but waved her hand to the throng.

Slowly Improving
The statement that King George's general condition was slowly improving, made in the official morning bulletin from his physicians, was the most welcome announcement that has come from Buckingham Palace since His Majesty's illness became critical a few days ago. It served to cheer greatly the hearts of his loyal subjects who have been waiting with tense anxiety for some such word that would indicate a turn for the better.

The medical bulletin signed by Lord Dawson of Penn and Sir Stanley Hewett, said:

"The King has passed a fair night and his temperature this morning is lower. The general condition is slowly improving and the infective process, which remains severe, is becoming more localized."

Chairman Carl C. Straw has returned from a business trip to Chicago and yesterday resumed his duties at the regular December meeting of the county board of supervisors.

Mrs. Elmer Cripe of North Dixon is quite ill with la grippe.

BODY OF KIDNAPPED BOY FOUND WITH THROAT CUT IN SWAMP IN NEW JERSEY; SUSPECT IS HELD

New York, Dec. 6.—(AP)—The body of a boy answering the description of Joseph Storela, seven years old, who was kidnapped from his home on the east side on November 17, was found today in a swamp under a bridge near Secaucus, N. J. Jersey City police, who found the body, notified police headquarters here.

A systematic search of the swamps was started at daybreak as the result of an alleged confession of Peter Kudzinowski, 28 years old, to the police in Detroit, where he was arrested for intoxication that he had kidnapped and killed an east side boy.

Kudzinowski, Detroit police said, told of taking the boy to a movie and then to Jersey City where they went for a walk in the meadow. Afterward, Kudzinowski told them, he hid in Buffalo for a few days and then went to Detroit by bus.

Private Cosmo Storela of Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., later identified the body, which showed a gash in the throat, as that of his seven year old brother Joseph.

Mysterious Liquid Makes Old Cars Look New

Automobile owners are greatly interested in a marvelous preparation that can be applied with a cloth in 20 minutes and gives to an old car the appearance of a new paint job. This preparation is in fluid form and is not a paint, polish, wax or lacquer. It brings back the original color and gives a high luster that lasts indefinitely. Its great advantages lie in the fact that only a trivial sum and only a few minutes time is taken for the renewing process. The Nu-Rex Products Co., Dept. 127, Sta. C, Milwaukee, Wis., are being flooded with orders from all sections of the country. They need men everywhere to handle local business and offer an unusual $100 a week and more money making proposition to ambitious men. Interested parties should write them at once for their free sample and big money making offer.—Adv.

LONG YEARS OF NEURITIS AGONY ENDS IN GLY-CAS

Walks Without Least Difficulty or Pain, Stiffness Gone from Arms Now, Lady Says.

"After years of awful suffering and trying so many medicines and different authorities, yet continuing to be a victim of neuritis, I can now honestly say that this affliction has been entirely ended by Gly-Cas," is the remarkable recent statement of Mrs. Sophronia Young, 250 Strong Ave., Findlay, Ohio.

"The neuritis shifted around over my body," she continued. "One day it would be in my arms and then, again, pains in my head would so severe I'd think I simply couldn't bear them. My arms became stiff so I couldn't bend them and finally the misery extended to my knees which became so stiff I could hardly walk. I had grown nervous and found it hard to sleep. But now, just think of it—after years of suffering and trying so many things without success, this Gly-Cas has ended my neuritis. Stiffness is gone from my arms, I have no more of the awful head pains and the stiffness has also vanished from my knees that I walk freely as anyone. My nerves have been quieted and I surely do sleep well now. This is a truthful statement of what Gly-Cas has done for me where all the other medicine failed."

Gly-Cas is sold in Dixon at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy, 501 Franklin Grove, G. S. Ives; Polo, C. E. Clothier; Aschenbrenner Drug; Compton, W. H. Hills; Rochelle, Barker & Sullivan and by leading druggists in all surrounding towns.—Adv.

New York Chinese Law Student Dies for Wife's Murder

Manchester, England, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Chung Yi Miao, Chinese law student from New York, was executed at Strangeways jail today for the murder of his bride, Wai Sheung-Miao. The young woman was found strangled to death in a wood near Keswick, England, last June shortly after their arrival on a honeymoon tour.

The couple had been married in New York. Both had been students at Columbia University. After the wedding, they visited Buffalo, where the bride had relatives and then came to England.

The night after the arrival of the couple at a hotel near Keswick, the young woman was found dead in a wood. Her expensive jewelry was missing. Chung was placed on trial in October and found guilty of the murder, although he declared that he was at a hotel at the time his wife was killed.

GREAT PROGRESS IN AVIATION IN THE CLOSING YEAR

Congress Gets Report of National Advisory Committee Today

Washington, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Forecasting the use of all-metal planes and the day when "the unskilled owner-pilot who now drives his own car" will fly a plane, the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, in its fourteenth annual report, submitted by President Coolidge to Congress today, analyzed the advance made this year in aviation.

President Coolidge in forwarding the report commented on "the amazing development" of aviation since the Wright Brothers made their first flight near Kittyhawk, North Carolina, just a quarter of a century ago.

"During the year 1928," the report, which was transmitted to the President by Joseph S. Ames, chairman of the advisory committee, said "great progress was made than in any single year since the first successful flight of man in a power-driven heavier-than-air flying machine."

Production Increases.

Not only has this twenty-fifth anniversary year marked the establishment without government subsidies, of American trans-continental all-air and airplane-railroad services for mail, passengers and express, the report states, but it has seen a 100 per cent increase in airplane production for private ownership, a 50 per cent reduction in air mail postage rates, and the greatest forward stride yet made in the study of aviation's pre-eminent problem—safety.

The report said that safety in flight and efficiency in operation, the two factors of greatest importance to both commercial and military aviation, have been the chief objects of research in the past year, both through experiment at its Langley Memorial laboratory near Langley Field, Virginia, and through collaboration with aviation experts of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

One of the most notable events of the year in airplane engine development was reported to be the perfection of the first successful fuel-injection engine burning a heavy oil instead of gasoline.

Officers of Legion Auxiliary Installed Wednesday Afternoon

The American Legion Auxiliary Dixon Post No. 12, held an all-day meeting Wednesday in Legion Hall. The hall was gay in the green and red colors of the Christmas season. A large tree, reaching to the ceiling and bright with colored lights and decorations stood at the head of the hall. About 65 members and friends enjoyed the chicken dinner served at 1 o'clock. Preceding the dinner Mrs. Mary Louise Withers, accompanied by Miss Edith Slothower, sang two delightful numbers.

The business meeting was called at 2:30. The report of the box of jellies and preserves sent to the World War men at the Elgin sanitarium last week, was very satisfactory, the amount being greater than ever before sent. The men at Elgin are being given theater parties, these being financed by the Auxiliaries. The Dixon unit last week. The Dixon unit also sent $25 for the Christmas fund. There are 4000 Illinois World War veterans in hospitals this Christmas. May they be thoughtfully remembered by the people of this state.

Mrs. Mary Schmucker, the retiring president, gave a short report of the year's work. She thanked the officers and members for their loyalty and support and asked that they give the same cooperation to the incoming officers for the new year.

Mrs. Rhea Wright, committee woman of the 13th District, was then escorted to the chair by the color bearers, and the newly elected officers were brought before Mrs. Wright, who gave the installation service, in a very impressive manner.

The work of the installing sergeant-at-arms was beautifully done, as was also the work of the color bearers.

Mrs. Wright was presented a gift from the unit and Mrs. Schmucker was presented with the Past President's Jewel, and the color bearers, sergeant-at-arms, and musicians were presented gifts from Mrs. Withers, the new president. Mrs. Wright gave a splendid talk on auxiliary work. Mrs. Olive Tuttle, president of the Legion Auxiliary at Amboy, spoke of the district convention to be held there in June. An exchange of gifts with the members, and a pop corn ball for each "kiddie" present, brought to a close the very enjoyable day.

The color bearers were Mrs. Bess Soper, Mrs. Catherine Kelly, Mrs. Louise Graff, Mrs. Georgiana Durr; Sergeant-at-Arms, Mrs. Stella Schmucker; Musician, Mrs. Coradel George.

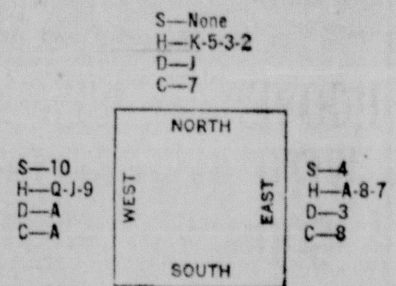

Officers installed were: Mrs. Louise Withers, President; Mrs. Lila Wagner, Sr. Vice-Pres.; Mrs. Nona Pomeroy, Jr. Vice-Pres.; Mrs. Dorothy Teschendorf, Treasurer; Mrs. Reki Lenox, Chaplain; Mrs. Elsie Knack, Historian; Mrs. Ruby McIntyre, Secretary; Mrs. Mazie Kelly, Sergeant-at-Arms.

BRIDGE PUZZLE

BY FABYAN MATHEW

Hearts are trumps and South has the lead. North and South must win three of the six tricks, against a perfect defense.

Lay out the cards on a table, as shown in the diagram, and study the situation. See if you can find a method of play that will give North and South three of the six tricks.

THE SOLUTION

The old bridge maxim—"Cover an honor with an honor"—is often heard but not always practiced. Many situations occur when the rule should not be followed. But in this puzzle the author illustrates a specific variation of the rule, which, except in very rare cases, is infallible. South leads the queen of spades. North discarding the diamond, South then leads his diamond, and North trumps. North next leads a club. West winning with the ace. West must now lead a heart, and he correctly chooses the queen. But North does not cover, so the queen holds the trick. The jack is then led. This time North covers. East overtakes with the ace, and South wins the last trick with the ten.

Had North covered West's first heart lead, the puzzle would have been defeated. East would have won with the ace, returned a heart, and West's jack and nine would have permitted a finesse through South's ten and six, giving East and West four tricks in all. The author therefore suggests this: when holding the king of a suit, and it seems apparent that opponents hold the queen-jack in one hand and the ace in the other, if you feel you should cover do not cover the first attempted finesse, but cover the second, and by doing so assure yourself that you are playing your hand for all it is worth. This particular situation, even if very specific, occurs time and again in play.

North may discard his club instead of his diamond on the opening lead. South then leads a club, North trumping and leading a diamond to West's ace. (Copyright, 1928, NEA Service, Inc.)

POINTERS FOR PARENTS

By Olive Roberts Barton.
 Copyright 1928 by NEA Service, Inc.
 Part of a child's education is to learn how to do small duties at home.

Small services such as running errands, drying dishes, running a carpet sweeper over the dining-room floor after meals, putting his playthings away—such things are good for a child. He should accept their performance as a matter of course.

But there is a good and sure way of turning him against all work, and that is by making his duties consistently disagreeable.

One little girl comes home from school at 4 o'clock, and goes straight to the kitchen where a pail of garbage from breakfast and dinner and supper the night before stand under the sink.

It is her duty to take it out to the big can at the end of the yard, empty it, take it into the laundry and rinse it, and return it to its place in the kitchen.

Often there is a note from her mother, "I won't be back until after five, so pare the potatoes and put them on," or, "Take that pound of figs the grocer sent right back to him and tell him they're full of black spots and I won't have them." Pleasant prospect, isn't it? Baffling to the grocer about every other day.

On Saturday she scrubs the front steps while her mother make the beds. The little girl loves to make beds and it is her joy to fix up the bedrooms and straighten out closets and bureau-drawers, but her mother reserves the right for herself. Mother doesn't like to scrub steps.

Again—she answers the doorbell!

"If it's that man from the radio company, tell him I'm not at home," whispers her mother over the stair-rail.

"Baby's dropped his bottle. Go get a dust-pan and the whisk-broom and sweep it up, and bring a cloth to wipe the milk off the carpet."

"Daddy and I have to dress to go to the Smiths. We promised to be there by eight. All the dishes are done but the pots and pans. You finish them up and don't forget to wipe off the stove and clean up the kitchen."

No, the picture is not overdrawn. There are hundreds of mothers who impose on good nature and relegate tasks not to their liking to the children. Of course it doesn't hurt a child to empty garbage or return bad figs or do the pots and pans once in awhile.

 But if all the tasks given him to do are unsavory and distasteful, he is going to grow up to be a work hater.
 Children can be just as useful doing the little tasks they like.

HOOVER'S WISE MOVE.

No president-elect in years has made a move of such wisdom as has Mr. Hoover in undertaking a tour of the South American countries prior to his inauguration.

The next president is thoroughly familiar with Europe and Asia. He knows the background of our international relationships in those spheres. About South America he does not know so much; so, like a shrewd business man, he goes down to familiarize himself with it before taking office.

There are 60,000,000 people in South America, and we in the United States are rather profoundly ignorant about them. Mr. Hoover's voyage will not only enlighten him; it will help to clear up our own lack of knowledge. And that is one of the finest things a nation's leader can do for his people. Misunderstanding is what breeds trouble. To remove it is to accomplish a great service.

MILLION-DOLLAR INCOMES.

Two hundred and eighty-three Americans enjoy incomes of more than a million dollars a year, according to figures just released by the internal revenue bureau. That total represents a gain of 52 during the past year.

These figures ought to provide all sorts with material for comment. The radical will declare that they prove that our wealth is concentrating in the hands of the few and that the common man, as a result, is getting the muddy end of the stick. The conservative will say they prove that we are more prosperous than ever before, and that the wealth of the few reflects an added increment on the part of the many. The evangelist can doubtless build a screed on this luxury-loving generation, with a few well-chosen references to the decline and fall of Rome.

All in all, the internal revenue bureau deserves our thanks for making these figures public.

OWEN ROBERTS' JOB.

Owen Roberts, retiring as special government prosecutor in the oil fraud cases to resume private practice, deserves the whole-hearted thanks of his fellow countrymen.

For a number of years Roberts and Atlee Pomerene have had the thankless job of rooting out the evidence about the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills cases. They have retored both of these vast reserves to the government, and if Messrs. Fall, Sinclair and Doheny are not in jail today, at least they were haled into court and revealed to everybody in their true colors.

The work of the special prosecutors has been ably done. The highest commendation is due Mr. Roberts for his services.

You cannot be attractive without a clear skin

EVERYBODY wants to be attractive. It is a great and just ambition. But no one can be attractive without a clear skin—you know that.

Do you realize the importance of pure, rich blood in preserving the health, and that the source of most skin disorders is in the blood?

Remove the cause, which is not in the skin itself, and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs, and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNUCK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

My, what a fix the Tinymites were in. Of all the funny sights! They floundered in the snow banks, trying to get upon their feet. 'Twas rather hard to stand, you see, 'cause snow's as slippery as can be. All of a sudden Clowdy cried, "Well, say, this is no treat!"

Then Scouty jumped and cried, "I fear that we have lost our little deer. When we were tumbled from our boat, he quickly ran away. Right now it seems that we are stuck amid the snow. What awful luck! We have no way to travel, but it isn't safe to stay."

The others quite agreed with him. Although they all felt in good trim, they knew they couldn't travel far, just walking in the snow. Soon Coppy said, "We all are bold, but 'twill be hard to fight this cold. There is no place to hide if winter winds begin to blow."

Just then a voice nearby cried out, "Say, what's this trouble all about?" The Tines turned around and saw a friendly Eskimo. He walked up to the little bunch, and smiled and said, "I have a hunch that I can help you on your way, where'er you wish to go."

"We're bound for toyland," Carpy cried, "but now we have no way to ride." The Eskimo sat down to think, and then he shook his head.

"Well, well, that's really very sad," said he, "but don't you lads feel bad. You all can keep on going, 'cause I'll let you take a sled."

He turned and whistled very loud. A big surprise came for the crowd. Some little dogs rushed wildly up. They had a sled in tow. The Eskimo then loudly roared, "Come on there, Tines, hop aboard." The Tines did and, once again, they were prepared to go.

MINOR LEAGUERS TO GET DOWN TO BUSINESS TODAY

Fight Over Draft May Come to Showdown
During Day

BY BRIAN BELL.

(Associated Press Sports Writer.)
Toronto, Ont., Dec. 6.—(AP)—It was game time today for the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs meeting in annual convention. Infield practice was held at the opening session yesterday, the day being given over to organization. With the minors, big and little, sharply divided on the question of selection of players by the majors from the minors, the baseball stage was set for decision with the league presidents, players and umpires too in attendance.

The leagues below class "A" were understood to be in favor of an unrestricted or unlimited selection while the three class AA circuits and one class A organizations—the Western—stood behind the modified selection which permits only players to be drafted who were sent to the minors by the majors.

W. G. Branham, Durham, N. C., president of the South Atlantic Association, Piedmont and Eastern Carolina Leagues, leader of the forces fighting for a full and free draft, said before the convention opened that he would demand a vote on every section of a resolution proposing a number of amendments intended to make the selection laws more liberal.

The defeat of the amendments will leave the way open to introduction of the so-called "Branham resolution" which would decree that once under the draft always a possible draft beneficiary so far as the player is concerned.

Trades and new connections continued to be a major part of the session's activities.

Infielder Ray Bivens was sold to Topeka of the Western Association to Terre Haute of the I. L. M. (Three Eye) League.

Denver of the Western League purchased the release of catcher, Andy Vargas, from San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League.

Benny Meyer, who was a coach for the Philadelphia Nationals under the administration of Manager Art Fletcher, returned to baseball by signing as coach with Detroit.

Seeking Good End for Eastern Team

Chicago, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Coaches Dick Hanley of Northwestern and Andy Kerr of Washington and Jefferson are looking for a good end to complete the eastern team that will tangle with the west in the annual east-west football game at San Francisco, December 29.

Out of 22 invitations extended, 12 of the outstanding football stars of the east and midwest have accepted, but an end position is still vacant. Barabee of New York University is the only end available thus far.

The eastern team will assemble at Northwestern, December 15, and leave that night for San Francisco.

Kiwanians' Governor Names Lieutenants

Chicago, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Announcement of lieutenant-governor appointments for the Illinois-Eastern Iowa district of Kiwanis was made at the national Kiwanis council meeting today by Richard N. Howes of Clinton, Iowa, governor-elect of the district.

The appointments follow: Edward W. Schoenberger of Chicago, Roy James Batts of Chicago, Frank S. Bates of Chicago, Louis Fifer of Joliet, William H. Woods of Monmouth, George H. Rinkerberger of Washington, A. C. Allen of Urbana, John Coleman of Mt. Carmel, Wayne Normal of Dubuque and John Hynes of Davenport.

Officials of Kiwanis, representing this country and Canada, today discussed policies for 1929.

Stressing the importance of increasing membership, O. Sam Cummings of Kansas City, president, urged district officials to emphasize the invitation to business and professional men to join local clubs.

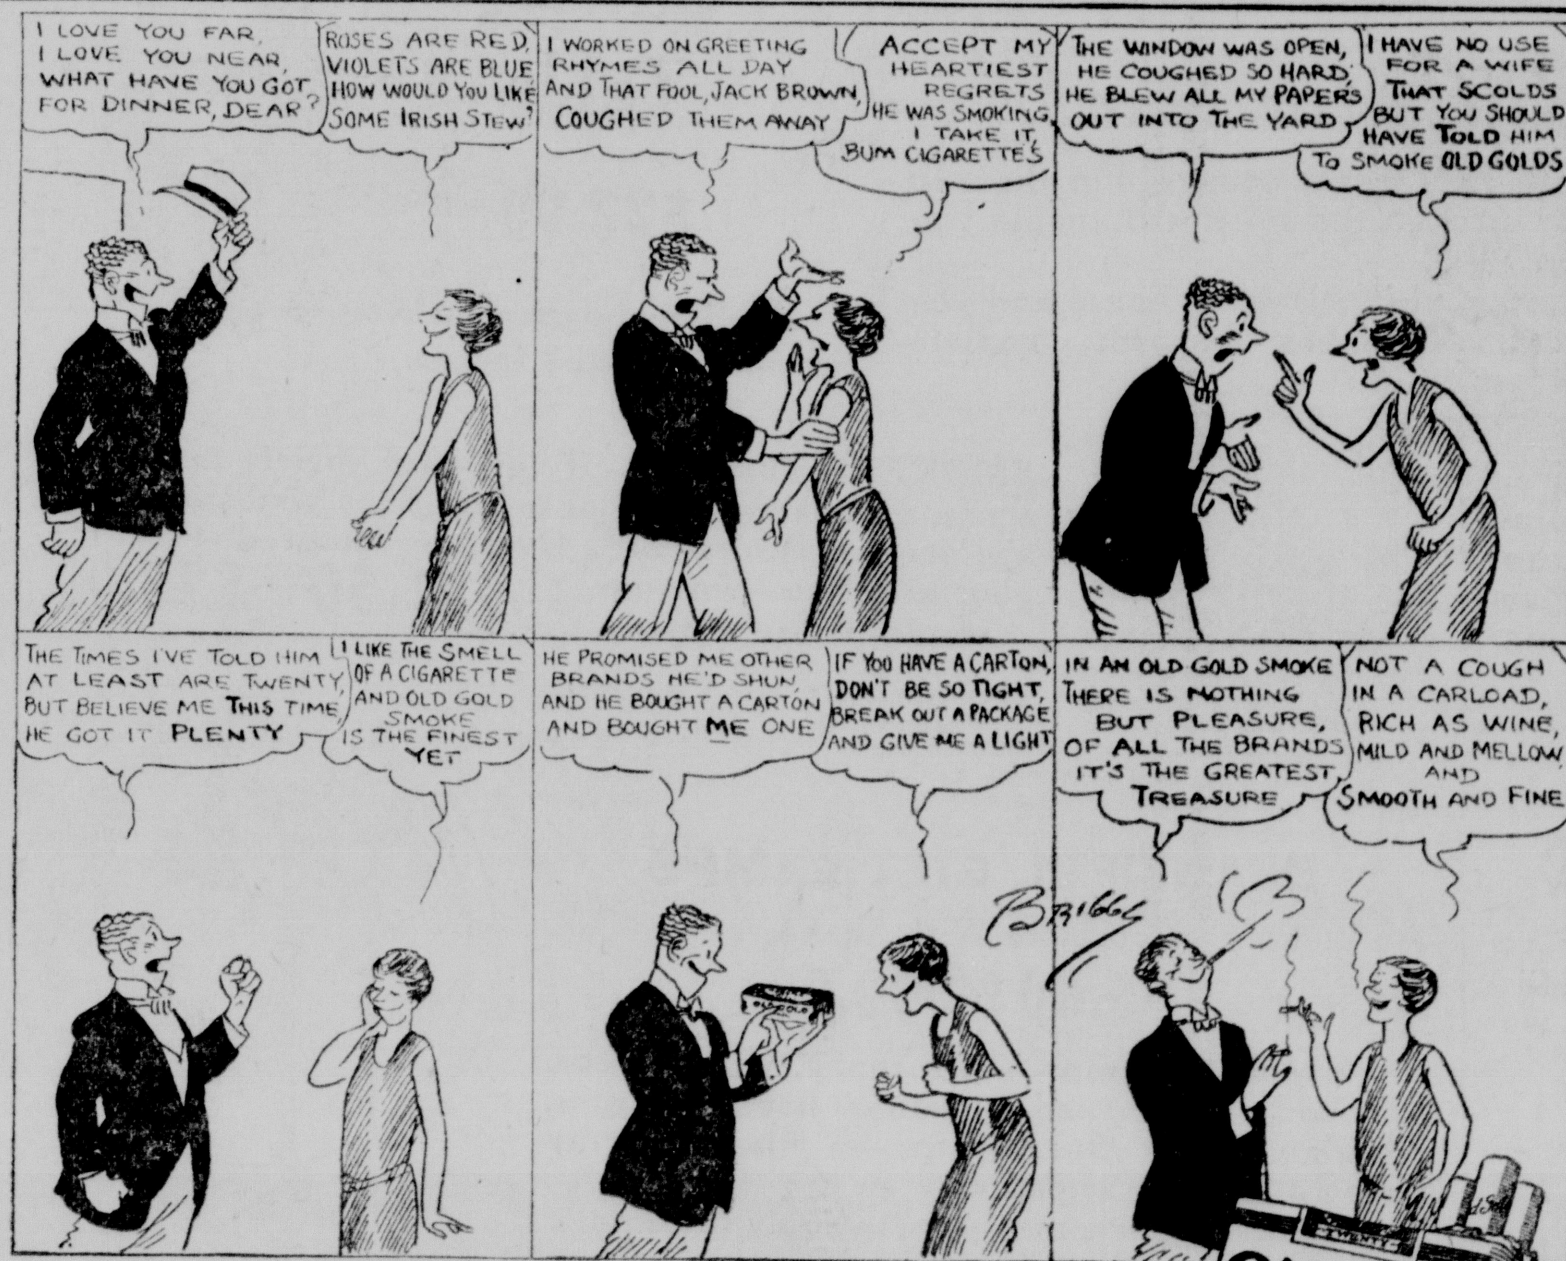

The president also announced the appointment of special committees to study foreign extension. Hundreds of letters, he said, asking for the building of Kiwanis clubs in foreign lands have been received by Kiwanis, International.

HORNSBY WILL SELL HIS FINE GRASS TO CUBS

Wrigley Field to Have Finest Turf of Any Baseball Park

St. Louis—"What do you think of the Chicago Cubs in 1929?" the ambitious interviewer shot at Rogers Hornsby when baseball's highest priced player was tracked down and interrupted at his chores on his big farm estate not far from the city. It may not be far from the city, but the man who was fired from St. Louis after he had won a pennant and a world series, sent on to New York and then to Boston, was sold to the Cubs recently for cash and players that may have reached the value of $250,000 or more.

Hornsby is celebrated for quick decisions and frank answers. When he has something to say he says it and he says just what he thinks. He hasn't been celebrated for a sense of humor, however. But he has one.

"What do I think of the Cubs?" he responded. "I'm not thinking this. I know it. The Cubs will have the finest infield and outfield in baseball—if they buy my grass." Hornsby's farm is stocked with blooded horses, cattle, hogs and chickens, but all the pasture sections of the farm are not used to graze the stock. There are several acres devoted to the cultivation of the very finest grass, a commodity that Hornsby thinks has a great future market for use on golf courses, baseball diamonds, football fields, and tennis courts.

With the exception of some expeditions into the scientific field of discovering how the ponies are going to finish a pasture which he insists is no one's business but his own, Hornsby has been a very shrewd business man. He talked himself into the salary he thought he was worth when he was playing with the Cardinals and he also forced the owners to take him in as a stockholder. He became a $40,000-a-year man with the Giants and the Braves had to assume the same salary obligation. It is not known what the Cubs marked in on his new contract but the amount was "certainly not less. It may have been more and it is understood that he was given a comfortable bonus for signing the new contract."

"I had to do a lot of heavy talking to Mr. Wrigley and Mr. Veeck," he said. "They're big business men and those men who are immensely wealthy like Mr. Wrigley have to be shown. But I think I have shown them."

"Was there any danger that you wouldn't sign the contract?" he was asked.

"Your baseball contract?" "I wasn't talking about any baseball contract," he said. "We didn't talk two minutes about the baseball contract. The proposition I was talking about was to sell them my grass for the park. The ball players are the only ones who know what good grass means, in handling balls or in caving the legs. And I think I convinced them that I am raising the best grass that grows."

Hornsby spends a lot of his time on the farm with "Little Ray," his dog and his fire truck, but he gets his greatest kick driving a tractor and plowing up the field where the grass is being cultivated. He hasn't been away from the farm much, and he considers the outdoor life of a farmer to be positively necessary for his chief profession.

"You can't realize how careful a ball player who wants to be a good batter has to be in nursing his eyes. I do practically no reading under artificial light and I try to remain outside as many hours as possible. The outdoor life, of course, is good for the body but it's a vital necessity to remove strain from the eyes."

"I live for baseball, of course, but there are those months in the year when I can't play baseball and I spend those months keeping myself fit for another season. I never have been sick. I never have had a headache and I never have felt badly in the morning. When you get used to it, it is a great life and I have discovered that it can be a profitable life.

"I know that I'm not going to last any longer than Ty Cobb did and when my active baseball days are over I want to have another business in hand. This farming looks to me like that business and there certainly is a great future in that grass. If you want to buy some I will make you a professional price."

He is T. H. Macey, who perfected his early training several years ago when, while a bachelor, he decorated his own rooms. Employing his idle time with the needle, he soon had created all the interior effects usually credited to the "feminine touch" in a home.

ELIGIBILITY TWO BIG TEN PLAYERS BEFORE COACHES

McLain, Iowa; Holman of Ohio State, Players Under Discussion

BY PAUL R. MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Chicago, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Question as to the eligibility of two football stars, Mayes McLain of Iowa and Allan Holman of Ohio State, threatens to cause discord among Big Ten coaches at their annual conference here tomorrow and Saturday.

Alumni of several schools in the conference are known to have protested against the two players, charging they were ineligible because they already had played football in other college teams.

McLain, Iowa's Cherokee Indian fullback, played with the Haskell Indians for two seasons before entering Iowa. While the Big Ten has ruled Haskell to be a preparatory school, those who protest against McLain point out that Haskell plays against other colleges of importance and should be classed as a college.

Charge Rule Violation
Holman attended Iowa State College before entering Ohio State and several Iowa alumni have protested to Commissioner John R. Griffiths that the Big Ten rule, whereby a player transferring to the Western Conference from another college must be eligible scholastically and attend school two years before he can play Big Ten football, was violated in his case.

With the Big Ten football schedules virtually completed, most of the discussion of the coaches promises to center about policy of eligibility and transfer. Both Ohio State and Iowa are expected to stand by their claims that Holman, a star quarterback, and McLain are eligible to compete next season.

Ambitious Program
The Big Ten football program for 1929 will be the most ambitious in the history of the conference, the schedules reveal. Eight important inter-sectional games have been carded and six of them will be played on Big Ten gridirons. Chicago has two inter-sectional games on its program—Princeton at Princeton and the University of Washington at Chicago. Illinois will meet the Army at Champaign; Wisconsin will play Colgate at Madison; Harvard invades Michigan; Vanderbilt meets Minnesota at Minneapolis, while Ohio State tangles with Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh and the Navy at Columbus.

Notre Dame, too, comes in for its share of Big Ten competition, engaging Wisconsin, Northwestern and Indiana.

Athletic directors and coaches of basketball, boxing, wrestling, track, baseball and other sports also will convene tomorrow and Saturday to draw up schedules. It was reported these coaches were attempting to arrange a rotating schedule corresponding with that used by football mentors.

DUPONT QUILTS SENATORSHIP: IN BAD HEALTH

Well-Known Delaware Republican Sends in Resignation

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 5.—(AP)—United States Senator T. Coleman DuPont of Delaware has resigned his seat in the Senate because of his health.

The resignation was made known today by Governor Robinson, who said he had received a copy of the letter of resignation which the Senator had sent to Vice President Dawes.

Senator DuPont is recuperating from a long illness at his country place near Cambridge, Md.

Mr. DuPont, a Republican, became a Senator in 1921 when he was appointed by Governor William D. Denney to succeed Josiah Wolcott, Democrat, who had resigned to become Chancellor of the State of Delaware. Senator DuPont was a candidate for election in 1922 but was defeated by Thomas F. Bayard, Democrat. He was again a candidate in 1924 and was elected. His term would have expired in 1930.

Gov. Robinson has not indicated whom he will appoint to fill the vacancy, but it is said the Republican organization of Delaware has indicated to him that its preference is for Daniel O. Hastings, now judge of the Municipal Court in Wilmington.

RUM SMUGGLING FROM CANADA IS SERIOUS PROBLEM

Prohibition Commissioner Gives Views of Booze Situation

Washington, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Liquor smuggling over the Canadian border, in the opinion of Prohibition Commissioner Doran, presents the most serious problem in dry law enforcement today. To correct it, he suggests a revision of the Canadian liquor treaty to prevent Canada from clearing liquor cargoes to this country.

Dr. Doran made this statement before a House appropriations subcommittee at hearings on the treasury supply bill.

The Commissioner said that notwithstanding the fact that the coast guard has operated to break up nearby rum-runs, there is still a large movement of liquor into the United States from European ports, the French island of St. Pierre, and from some Central American and Mexican ports. The largest quantity, however, he said, comes from Canada, and seven-eighths of it through the Detroit gateway.

Many Fake Labels
While the amount of liquor moving into the interior of this country has been reduced, Dr. Doran said the present treaty, stipulating merely that Canada notify this country of liquor ship clearances from her ports, affords a good background for fake liquor labels and for fraudulent strip stamps, indicating bottled in bond whiskey, both in Canada and in the United States.

Under the new policy of controlling industrial alcohol production at the source, Dr. Doran said distilling of illicit liquor had been reduced. The present supply, he added, is to a large extent smuggled or made in this country from raw materials principally corn sugar and grain.

The breaking down of illicit distilling from large to small plants, the Commissioner said, had increased the need of cooperation in enforcement from local officials. This has been forthcoming in some sections, he added, but in others there had been not only passive but "active and hearty" opposition.

Court Bargain Days
As for New York, he said cooperation was given only to the extent that state troopers up-state make cases and turn them over to already overcrowded federal courts, and through a great many minor cases turned in by New York City police which have to be taken care of or "bargain" days in United States courts and disposed of on pleas of guilty with fines of $10 or $15.

Reference also was made to the Philadelphia situation, where Doran said there had been "not only a lack of active cooperation, but a very bad situation in the police department."

Chicago, Doran testified, was "brightening up a little bit," as far as federal enforcement is concerned, but he said "a fire deal could be done there yet." Up to last spring he continued, there was practically no cooperation from Chicago police.

The commissioner said he was getting more help from the present administration in Detroit than from the previous one; that in St. Louis there was not much activity on the part of city and county authorities to close up speakeasies. The problem in Florida, he said, was "smuggling and a kind of Everglade distilling problem," with the former a "winter proposition."

The situation in San Francisco was in Dr. Doran's opinion, about the same as in other large cities.

Dr. Doran said he believes that while the new law requiring dry officers and agents to stand civil service examination will work out satisfactorily in the end.

MOTOR DRIVERS' LICENSE STATUTE BEING CONSIDERED

Legislature Expected to Get After Careless Auto Drivers

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 6.—(AP)—Growing public indignation against the intoxicated, the hit-and-run or otherwise careless driver who is responsible for the ever-increasing injury and death toll from automobile accidents will lead the next legislature to pass a motorists' license law, many members of the assembly believe.

When the Assembly convenes some six weeks hence, at least one bill will have been prepared, and be ready for introduction in the lawmaking body. Among the leaders who will be supporting drivers' license legislation, the foremost will be Richard Barr of Joliet, last session's president pro-tem of the upper body.

In previous attempts to pass a drivers' license law, fault has been found with the cumbersome nature of the proposed law. In the first place, physical examinations have been regarded as a prerequisite of issuing a license; and in the second place a license is meaningless unless the driver holding a license is financially responsible. Thirdly many states have found that the cost of providing the physical exam, etc., is around $5, which is considered exorbitant on top of other fees the motorist must pay.

Motor Club Plan
The Chicago Motor club, one of the state's strongest organizations of motor car owners, has a plan which it believes will surmount all difficulties and still prove workable.

The club's proposed bill contains no provision for the mental and physical examination of drivers—such an examination would take forty minutes and forty minutes for every motorist in the state would soon eat up a half-year. Its nearest approach to a license would be in the application for license, in the form of a sworn affidavit with severe penalties for false returns. In this affidavit all mental and physical defects would be set out. The "teeth" of the bill is the power of revocation, which would be vested in the Secretary of State, and in all courts of record, and licenses would be suspended or revoked when any motorist is convicted of driving while intoxicated, running away after an accident or causing personal injury by careless driving. A prison term and permanent revocation of the license would be the penalty for driving during the period of suspension.

Other things in favor of the bill, as set forth by the motor club are that "it can be put in force without an army of payrollers, bribery and political favoritism will play no part in its administration, it would act as a powerful preventative, and the cost would not exceed fifty cents."

BARR FOR GAS TAX
Joliet, Ill., Dec. 6.—(AP)—At least one influential member of the upper house of the 56th Illinois general assembly will throw his support to a new gasoline tax law, to replace that held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet, president pro-tem last session and a first choice for the same seat in the coming term believes a gas tax one of two badly needed laws. The other is a law for the licensing of motor vehicle drivers.

Senator Barr's efficient leadership of the forces of the administration last session was believed largely responsible for the resurrection and passage of the gas tax bill, after it had been once voted down. His support, in the opinion of legislative observers, presages bright hopes for passage of the bill, whether or not he is elected speaker pro-tem again, as a great many members will "owe" him favors from other sessions.

MANY CHANGES IN RAILROAD STATUTE SOUGHT BY BOARD

I. C. C. Petitions Congress to Extend Its Powers

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—A lengthy list of both major and minor changes in the federal law relating to railroad regulation is asked of Congress by the Interstate Commerce Commission in submitting today its annual report.

Broader and more specific powers to control and direct the consolidation of existing systems of railroads into larger units for the commission itself was among the points touched upon. In addition, citing the continual growth in the variety and volume of work before its members, the commission asked for legal power to delegate duties in regard to hearings and decisions to its individual members and employees.

In the direction of limiting its own authority, the commission asked congress to exempt completely from its jurisdiction the operation of electric railways, except such "as interchange standard freight equipment with steam railways and participate in through interstate freight rates with such carriers."

The report also proposed that railroads in the United States be permitted by law to make joint through rates with Canadian and Mexican lines; and suggested amendments to the penal code to make workable sections applying fines to shippers who mis-bill goods to avoid paying freight rates. Former proposals that wooden passenger cars should be eliminated by law from general railroad service.

Seek More Powers
After frequent mention in its report of the recent trend toward uniting the steam carriers of the country into larger units, and after reviewing the status of individual projects before it looking in that direction, the commission summed up its suggestions for changes in the railroad consolidation law. To cope with the trend toward consolidation the commission asked Congress to make it impossible for any carrier to gain control of another "in any manner whatsoever except with our specific approval and authorization." It sought also power to require a grouping of carriers to include other railroad systems within their scheme.

"A method of effecting dominance in the affairs of competing carriers that may seriously affect the maintenance of competition and other relations among carriers," the commission said in discussing the consolidation situation, "is the acquisition by individuals or groups of individuals of control of two or more such carriers. Whether such financial or other relations can or should be prevented under existing law is a question to which we have not heretofore had occasion to give consideration. The first instance of such individual acquisition of relatively large railroads have only recently been brought to our attention."

Railroads continue to extend the length of present lines and build into new territory, the report indicated in estimating that the commission last year had approved projects for the construction of 717 miles of new line. At the same time, it allowed the abandonment of 487 miles of line which operating corporations no longer found profitable. Reviewing general statistics, the commission concluded that, while general railroad freight business has been satisfactory, steam rail carriage of passengers showed a continued decline from the competition of motor vehicles and other methods of transportation.

One large branch of enterprise under its direction—the valuation of railroads—was said by the commission to have reached practical completion last year, though the findings and methods are awaiting Supreme Court approval in pending test litigation. Once the valuation findings are accepted and put into use, the commission will use the totals to direct rate making, and also to re-capture from an railroad one-half the amount of earnings it may attain in excess of 6 percent upon its valuation. Though all of the re-capture situation is involved in the pending test litigation, the commission noted that it now held $9,184,000, paid over to the government by railroads which have not chosen to contest the re-capture clause. No estimates were presented as to the amount of re-capture funds the government may collect when valuation is completely established. Demand for the change of law that

TIGHTER BARS ON IMMIGRATION, SEC. DAVIS RECOMMENDS

Secretary of Labor Issues Report of His Year's Activity

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—Extensive revamping of the immigration laws with the purpose of further restricting the flow of aliens into the United States is recommended by Secretary Davis of the Labor Department in his annual report.

Dealing with other phases of the department's activity, the document estimates that more than 1,400,000 workers, men, women and children, have been placed in jobs during the year by the government employment service, while its agents of conciliation, directed by Hugh L. Kerwin, have intervened in 478 industrial disputes during the year, seeking to terminate disputes that disturbed payrolls on which 350,000 workers are counted.

Work of the bureau engaged in special service for women and children for the supervision of naturalization of aliens, and the statistical study of wages, prices, and industrial economies are likewise reviewed and the secretary's final word expresses great will allow American roads to make joint rates with Canadian and Mexican carriers arose, the report explained, from litigation over news print shipments from Canada. The commission, in proposing the law, said that Congress should give its jurisdiction over such joint rates as American carriers may establish with the foreign lines.

PILE SUFFERERS

You can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Nothing but an internal remedy can do this—that's why cutting and salves fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, is guaranteed to quickly and safely banish any form of Pile misery or money back. satisfaction with existing industrial conditions, and optimism for even further betterment in the future.

What effect of the immigration legislation Secretary Davis approved to cut the immigration from Mexico, now running at nearly 80,000 per year, to slightly above 7000, while leaving undisturbed the movement from other countries of the western hemisphere. However, it would also compromise the dispute between the "quota" and "national origins" methods of determining admissibility to the United States, and would relieve some of the handicaps now imposed on aliens who are admitted.

He recommended a compromise between the quota and national origins methods of determining admissible numbers and endorsed the proposals to fix a quota limit to immigration from North and South American countries, which now have no quota.

Following the slowing down of immigration from Europe, there was a large increase in the number of Mexicans entering the country, the secretary continued. "They took and are continuing to take the places formerly filled by south and east Europeans. Under existing law they can continue to come in increasing numbers, as they undoubtedly will do, in increasing numbers, thus defeating one of the main purposes for which quota laws were enacted, namely, to prevent further over-crowding of our labor market.

"I want to say emphatically that I entertain no prejudice against the people of any country, but being absolutely convinced that the barriers that have been erected to prevent the coming of unlimited European labor have proven to be highly beneficial, it is impossible to avoid the conviction that the industrial situation ought to be guarded against the difficulties and dangers which will almost certainly follow the unlimited immigration of workers from another source."

To prevent the separation of families, the measure endorses suggestions that heads of families be not allowed to enter the United States with passports under the quota were also available for the wife and children, but proposes to let the members of new separated families be re-united under less onerous delay.

Secretary Davis also questions the operation of the law favoring immigration of agricultural labor, as having failed to attain effectiveness, and suggested alterations.

Recent court decisions by which aliens resident in Canada have obtained permission to cross the border into the United States were most regretted in the report.

"If these decisions are upheld, it will be impossible to prevent the entrance into the United States of aliens of any race or color who may gain entry to Canada," it observes, after stating that appeals to the Supreme Court are still pending. "If the final decision of the Supreme Court is against the government, then the present immigration law will be no longer of any effect as a protection to the wage earner of the United States against alien labor of foreign countries whether Canadian, Mexican or European."

MANY CHANGES IN RAILROAD STATUTE SOUGHT BY BOARD

I. C. C. Petitions Congress to Extend Its Powers

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—A lengthy list of both major and minor changes in the federal law relating to railroad regulation is asked of Congress by the Interstate Commerce Commission in submitting today its annual report.

Broader and more specific powers to control and direct the consolidation of existing systems of railroads into larger units for the commission itself was among the points touched upon. In addition, citing the continual growth in the variety and volume of work before its members, the commission asked for legal power to delegate duties in regard to hearings and decisions to its individual members and employees.

In the direction of limiting its own authority, the commission asked Congress to exempt completely from its jurisdiction the operation of electric railways, except such "as interchange standard freight equipment with steam railways and participate in through interstate freight rates with such carriers."

The report also proposed that railroads in the United States be permitted by law to make joint through rates with Canadian and Mexican lines; and suggested amendments to the penal code to make workable sections applying fines to shippers who mis-bill goods to avoid paying freight rates. Former proposals were repeated by the commission that wooden passenger cars should be eliminated by law from general railroad service.

Seek More Powers

After frequent mention in its report of the recent trend toward uniting the steam carriers of the country into larger units, and after reviewing the status of individual projects before it looking in that direction, the commission "summed up" its suggestions for changes in the railroad consolidation law. To cope with the trend toward consolidation the commission asked Congress to make it impossible for one carrier to gain control of another "in any manner whatsoever except with our specific approval and authorization." It sought also power to require a grouping of carriers to include other railroad systems within their scheme.

"A method of effecting dominance in the affairs of competing carriers that may seriously affect the maintenance of competition and other relations among carriers," the commission said in discussing this consolidation situation, "is the acquisition by individuals or groups of individuals of control of two or more such carriers. Whether such financial or other relations can or should be prevented under existing law is a question to which we have not heretofore had occasion to give consideration. The first instance of such individual acquisition of relatively large railroads have only recently been brought to our attention."

Railroads continue to extend the length of present lines and build into new territory, the report indicated in estimating that the commission last year had approved projects for the construction of 717 miles of new line. At the same time, it allowed the abandonment of 487 miles of line which operating corporations no longer found profitable. Reviewing general statistics, the commission concluded that, while general railroad freight business has been satisfactory, steam rail carriage of passengers showed a continued decline from the competition of motor vehicles and other methods of transportation.

One large branch of enterprise under its direction—the valuation of railroads—was said by the commission to have reached practical completion last year, though the findings and methods are awaiting Supreme Court approval in pending litigation. Once the valuation findings are accepted and put into use, the commission will use the totals to direct rate making, and also to re-capture from an railroad one-half the amount of earnings it may attain in excess of 6 per cent upon its valuation. Though all of the re-capture situation is involved in the pending test litigation, the commission noted that it now held $9,184,000, paid over to the government by railroads which have not chosen to contest the re-capture clause. No estimates were presented as to the amount of re-capture funds the government may collect when valuation is completely established. Demand for the change of law that

Secretary of Labor Issues Report of His Year's Activity

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—Extensive revamping of the immigration laws with the purpose of further restricting the flow of aliens into the United States is recommended by Secretary Davis of the Labor Department in his annual report.

Dealing with other phases of the department's activity, the document estimates that more than 1,400,000 workers, men, women and children, have been placed in jobs during the year by the government employment service, while its agents of conciliation, directed by Hugh L. Kerwin, have intervened in 478 industrial disputes during the year, seeking to terminate disputes that disturbed payrolls on which 350,000 workers are counted.

Work of the bureaus engaged in special service for women and children for the supervision of naturalization of aliens, and the statistical study of wages, prices, and industrial economies are likewise reviewed and the Secretary's final word expresses great will allow American roads to make joint rates with Canadian and Mexican carriers arose, the report explained, from litigation over news print shipments from Canada. The commission, in proposing the law, said that Congress should give its jurisdiction over such joint rates as American carriers may establish with the foreign lines.

PILE SUFFERERS

You can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Nothing but an internal remedy can do this—that's why cutting and salves fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, is guaranteed to quickly and safely banish any form of Pile misery or money back. satisfaction with existing industrial conditions, and optimism for even further betterment in the future.

Chief effect of the immigration legislation Secretary Davis approved was to cut the immigration from Mexico, now running at nearly 80,000 per year, to slightly above 7,000, while leaving undisturbed the movement from other countries of the western hemisphere. However, it would also compromise the dispute between the "quota" and "national origins" methods of determining admissibility to the United States, and would relieve some of the handicaps now imposed on aliens who are admitted.

He recommended a compromise between the quota and national origins methods of determining admissible numbers and endorsed the proposals to fix a quota limit to immigration from North and South American countries, which now have no quota.

"Following the slowing down of immigration from Europe, there was a 100 per cent increase in the number of Mexicans entering the country," the Secretary continued. "They took and are continuing to take the places formerly filled by south and east Europeans. Under existing law they can continue to come in increasing numbers, as they undoubtedly will do, in increasing numbers, thus defeating one of the main purposes for which quota laws were enacted, namely, to prevent further over-crowding of our labor market.

"I want to say emphatically that I entertain no prejudice against the people of any country, but being absolutely convinced that the barriers that have been erected to prevent the coming of unlimited European labor have proven to be highly beneficial, it is impossible to avoid the conviction that the industrial situation ought to be guarded against the difficulties and dangers which will almost certainly follow the unlimited immigration of workers from another source."

To prevent the separation of families, the measure indorses suggestions that heads of families be not allowed to enter the United States until passports under the quota were also available for the wife and children, but proposes to let the members of now separated families be re-united under less onerous delay.

Secretary Davis also questions the operation of the law favoring immigration of agricultural labor, as having failed to attain effectiveness, and suggested alterations.

Recent court decisions by which aliens resident in Canada have obtained permission to cross the border into the United States were most regretted in the report.

"If these decisions are upheld, it will be impossible to prevent the entrance into the United States of aliens of any race or color who may gain entry to Canada," it observes, after stating that appeals to the Supreme Court are still pending. "If the final decision of the Supreme Court is against the government, then the present immigration law will be no longer of any effect as a protection to the wage earner of the United States against alien labor of foreign countries whether Canadian, Mexican or European."

CHAMPIONSHIPS AT STOCK SHOW WERE AWARDED

Thirteen States and Can- ada Share in Major Awards

BY GORDON M. SESSIONS
Associated Press Staff Writer
Chicago, Dec. 6.—(AP)—More than thirty championships in livestock had been divided among 13 states and Canada, and four major crops awards had gone to four states and the Dominion as the fourth day of the International Livestock Exposition opened today. A half dozen prizes each had been given in the fat cattle, breeding cattle, swine and horse branches and seven titles had been decided in sheep competition.

Today was to see a large share of the judging completed in breeding classes of all types of farm animals, with virtually all of this branch of judging to be finished on Thursday.

A slim, shy lad of twelve from a farm near State Center, Iowa, won the major share of the spotlight yesterday, when his Hereford steer was declared grand champion after its youthful owner, Clarence Goecke, had about decided there was no use entering his pet beast in the banner event. Clarence had already won three championships with his steer and had bought his ticket back to Iowa, when W. L. Blizard, coach of the prize-amassing Oklahoma Agricultural College, prevailed on him to stay. The boy's winnings are expected to reach $1,000 in addition to approximately $4,000 which it is estimated he will get at the sale of the steer.

Boy Corn Champion
Rome Workman, Illinois boy from Waverly, shared honors with Goecke when he became "corn king" of the show with his ten ears of Reid's yellow dent. Workman's father is a former champion.

Rockford Will Hear International Talk
Debating the question, "Resolved that this House disapproves of Nationalism" the debate teams of Rockford College and the University of Sydney, Australia, will meet in an international debate at Rockford, Wednesday evening, December 12. The debate will take place at the Second Congregational church of Rockford.

The three members of the Australian team are recent graduates of the University of Sydney where they distinguished themselves in scholarship and debating. Two of the men, H. G. Gadsall, and W. S. Sheldon, are studying for the Australian bar, and the third member of the team, Norman C. L. Nelson, has already been admitted as a solicitor of the Australian Supreme Court. It is expected that these men will offer strong opposition for the Rockford team.
Upholding Rockford College and taking the negative of the question are the following young women: Miss Myra Byers, of Evansville, Indiana;

Miss Genevieve Blane, Petersburg, Illinois; and Miss Sybil Saxton of Kenilworth, Illinois. Both Miss Byers and Miss Blane took part in an international debate with a team from the British Isles last year.
The Sydney debate marks Rockford College's second international debate.
